IRREGULAR BORROWING.

A few days back, in calling attention to the irregularity of irregular borrowing, we pointed out that the Queensland Government under the domination of the London Stock Exchange, are suggested that it involved considerations requiring the notice of our own Government.

The rumours current as to the method of meeting the payment for the Darling Harbour reclamation have now developed into actual facts. The property owners to the effect that he amounts due to them can be left on deposit with the Colonial Treasurer for three or five years, and that interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly, will be allowed to them. Practically that is an extension of the Darling Harbour Reclamation Act, and it is a question of the extension of the property owners. If our London creditors do not object perhaps the arrangement is not a bad one in the circumstances in which the State is situated. Probably the bulk of the late loan is required for the payment of other obligations. And it would have been a bad effect if more than some millions had been asked for more money. It has been said, too, that the delay in settling the reclamation claims has prejudiced property owners. But, however, can hardly be the case, for investments of the money can be made at present on more satisfactory terms than they could have been effected a year ago. At the same time the State is not getting more than 3 per cent. against the cutting down from 6 per cent. to 4 per cent. of the rate of interest allowed to the holders of property resumed previously to the passing of the special Act dealing with Darling Harbour properties. The concession of the extension of an investment of the money for three or five years at 4 per cent. may find some palmy days, but not more than 3 per cent. in these grounds. Nevertheless it cannot but be regarded as extremely unfortunate that the country has to pay 4 per cent. for temporary loans when the ordinary creditors of the State are only receiving about 3 per cent. on their short-term Treasury bills or stock. Possibly the extension could not now be effected at that rate or three or five years. Certainly it could not without the right of transfer. Transferable receipt receipts have a value in excess of those which are not transferable. We can see no reason for not giving the right of transfer, but more than that it might expose the fact that the depositors are not getting more than 3 per cent. of the award. That is not a sufficient reason. It cannot be concealed that in paying 4 per cent. on the deposits the country is giving more than the market rate for money. It banks pay 3 per cent. for a year and might give 3 1/2 per cent. for three years. The Government takes the money of the Savings Bank, and the Government can show reasons for refusing the privilege of transfer.

THE SHIPBUILDING COMBINATION.

LONDON, June 13.

The shipbuilding combination in the United States is building the largest dry dock in the world at Staten Island, New York Harbour. The organization has secured contracts amounting to 37,000,000 (£7,400,000) and extending over three years.

A recent cable stated that five of the largest shipbuilding firms of the United States had amalgamated, and intended to compete for foreign orders. The capital of the amalgamation is 25,000,000 (£5,000,000).

A recent number of "Engineering" illustrates the immense floating dock to lift ships of 16,000 to 18,000 tons, one was built on the Tyne, and the other, also to the design of Messrs. Clark and Shand, at Baltimore, for the United States Government. The latter dock is somewhat more powerful than the Bermuda dock, built on the Tyne, as it is a lifting dock, and not a floating one. The Government specified that when lifting a 15,000-ton battleship it should lift it in 20 minutes. The Bermuda dock has a lifting power of 16,000 tons. The American structure is, however, somewhat lighter than the British craft. The weight of the dock is 5800 tons, as against 6500 tons for the Bermuda dock. This gives a lifting power of 100 tons for every 35 tons of dock for the American structure, as against 100 tons lifted for every 35 tons of the British dock. The American dock is 220 ft. long, 40 ft. wide, and 22 ft. deep. In order to get the dock to lift a battleship, the dock must be lowered to 20 ft. deep.

We are informed by the postal authorities that the expedition delivered of the soldiers there will be the first of the kind in the history of the world.

SPEECH TO THE LONDON CORPORATION.

LONDON, June 14.

The King at Buckingham Palace yesterday made two great speeches regarding peace in South Africa, the one to the Lord Mayor and the members of the Corporation of the City of London, and the other to the Chamberlain and the members of the London County Council, at separate audiences, which he granted to these bodies who brought him their congratulations on the attainment of peace.

Speaking to the Lord Mayor and the City Corporation his Majesty expressed thankfulness to Almighty God at the termination of the struggle. He recognised the sacrifices of the brave soldiers, and the sacrifices of his subjects at home and abroad, and he expressed his confidence in the future of the Empire.

His Majesty said that he also recognised the value and the endurance of the troops who were opposed by a brave and determined enemy. He expressed his confidence in the future of the Empire.

At the audience of the Lord Mayor, the King expressed his confidence in the future of the Empire.

The King, in his speech to the London County Council, said that he looked forward to the introduction of the system of government in South Africa, which by God's help, would bring to that territory the peace and the prosperity which had followed the establishment of that system in every quarter of the globe.

His Majesty continued that he confidently believed that the good feeling displayed between those who had recently been opponents assured well for the future of the vast country which had been added to the dominions of the Crown.
